The Temple, based in the City of Nottingham, was developed in the early 1970's and has since developed into an establishment that covers a wide range of activities promoting the Hindu ethos. These activities range from Religious, Cultural, Social, Festive, Educational and Charity events to the practice of Yoga. The Temple is an important pillar of the local community and Franke were proud to be part of such an important project.

The Miranit used for the washbasins is made of Shatter-proof, resin bonded mineral granite which provides a modern, aesthetically pleasing design for a wide range of environments from hotels and schools to centres like these. Cast in a single mold with no adhesive seams or joints it provides high stability and high durability while keeping a contemporary style.

Chris Kightley, Managing Director of Inspired Washrooms, commented "We work with Franke on a regular basis and can always trust them to provide us with quality products. Over the years we have worked on a lot of projects together and we would consider them to be one of our most trusted partners. Their range Miranit composite washroom basins are excellent for various projects that we complete, and the Rodan accessories angular side profiles compliment the contemporary décor of the washrooms".
